ORSA 3-gun

Robert Toner

The AR15.com/Rockcastle Pro-Am 3-gun Championship was held August 23-26 at the Rockcastle Shooting Center, located north of Bowling Green, KY. The match was the single largest gathering of competitors and sponsors for the fast growing sport of 3-Gun. Over 500 competitors, including the biggest names in the sport, from 43 states and three foreign countries participated in the event, and ORSA was well represented in this match. Congratulations to ORSA member Kevin Suffridge who won the Amateur Tactical Division. Jason Edwards, a regular competitor at our 3-Gun, USPSA, and IDPA matches finished 12th place against the best competition in the country, in the Pro Tactical Division. Other ORSA members and/or frequent participants in our monthly 3-Gun matches who competed at Rockcastle include:

Darren Greer - 13th Place Overall Amateur Tactical Division- ORSA Member
Robert Toner - Pro Tactical Division- ORSA 3 Gun President
John Waters - Pro Tactical Division- ORSA Member
Chris Weber - 14th Overall Amateur Open Division
Monie Parton - 18th Place Amateur Tactical Division
Kevin Pratt - Pro Tactical Division

3-Gun competition involves using a pistol, shotgun, and rifle on a variety of targets, including flying clays, paper, steel plates, poppers, and metal flash targets. For the Pro Division, rifle shots over 300 yards were required. The competition was divided into two groups, Pro and Amateur; the participants in the two groups competed in either Tactical or Open Divisions, based on the configuration of their firearms. In the Tactical division your rifle is allowed to have one optic (scope or red dot/holographic sight), the pistol and shotgun required to have only iron sights, and the shotgun was limited to 9 rounds at the start.

In the Open division, rifles could have more than one optic, pistol and shotgun could also be equipped with optics, and the shotgun capacity was not limited. In this division, some competitors were using an X-Rail system which allows the competitor to have up to 25 rounds loaded in the shotgun.

In addition to the main competition, there were numerous raffles and Pro Clinics were available from some of the top shooters in the 3-Gun world both Friday and Saturday night. There was also unique side matches; one notable such match entailed going into a cave to shoot USPSA targets using a suppressed .45 pistol equipped with IR lasers while wearing night vision goggles.

After each day of competition, everyone gathered back at the lodge for some delicious food, cold beverages, telling tales and socializing until well into the night. The accommodations available at the Rockcastle Shooting center were first rate and the vendors that were present covered all aspects of the 3 Gun shooting family. The NRA and a host of their board members were also present.

If your interest in this type of shooting is piqued, please come out to one of our monthly 3-Gun matches – time and date are shown on the ORSA calendar. Additional information is also available at ORSAAP.com - click on the multi-gun logo. Beware, like most shooting sports, 3-Gun is very addictive.

Richard Stouder ♦ There has been a recent stir in internet traffic and some articles in Fox News on the web where over a billion rounds of ammunition have been bought by the Department of Homeland Security, the Social Security Administration, NOAA, and other government agencies. You just have to take that in for a minute - over a billion rounds and a majority if it hollow point bullets. Why would the Social Security Administration need millions of rounds of hollow point bullets? NOAA??

The Department of Homeland Security is not forthcoming with their purchases. Agencies make purchases like this via a web site named FedBizOpps. A solicitation in mid August for DHS to purchase ammunition on behalf of Immigration & Customs Enforcement contained numerous blocked out sections. Redaction of this nature must only be for national security reasons and must be approved by Congress. Nonetheless, the redacted portions included references to the amount of .223 62 grain and .223 64 grain ammunition being purchased. The ammo purchase solicitation further stated that this was not subject to "full and open competition" and their justification for this was an "unusual and compelling urgency." Further DHS stated that there is a shortage of bullets which is threatening a situation which could cause "substantial safety issues for the government" threat should law enforcement not be adequately armed. In March DHS purchased 450 million rounds of .40 caliber hollow point bullets. This was followed up this summer where DFS ordered an additional 750 million rounds of assorted ammunition. The only response DHS has provided is that these purchased are for training purposes. You draw your own conclusions for all this. I'm not a conspiracy theorist but it is inane to believe this is the purchase of training ammunition.

In these columns I have often warned that the gun control crowd will never rest. Several items follow that merit attention.

The New York and Connecticut legislatures are looking to implement microstamping technology requirements. This could result in Remington and Colt being forced out of those states.

Microstamping, or ballistic imprinting, is a patented process that uses laser technology to engrave a tiny marking of the make, model and serial number on the tip of a gun's firing pin to allow an imprint of that information on spent cartridge cases. Supporters of the technology say it will be a "game changer," allowing authorities to quickly identify the registered guns used in crimes. Opponents claim the process is costly, unreliable and may ultimately impact the local economies that heavily depend on the gun industry, including Ilion, N.Y., where Remington Arms maintains a factory, and Hartford, Conn., where Colt's manufacturing is headquartered.

The closure of Remington's plant in the 8,000-resident village would be a "huge hit" to the local economy. Meanwhile, in Connecticut, similar microstamping legislation has long been opposed by Colt, whose executives have claimed the "feel-good legislation" would drive gun manufacturers out of the state.

Since the tragedy in Aurora, CO gun control activists have been demanding change to our gun control laws. We have had two separate acts trying to hurt ammo regulations submitted since the shooting. One that would limit your clips and magazines to only ten rounds, another that will prevent you from buying ammo online or by mail. They are taking advantage of a terrible situation to demand gun control rather than try to prevent another tragedy from occurring. If they were serious about stopping mass shootings, they would introduce a bill to repeal the so-called Gun-Free School Zones Act. One thing that is shown to stop mass shootings is the presence of an armed potential victim. If they want to get serious about saving lives, they should stop trying to pass laws that will only affect law-abiding citizens.

Shortly after attaching the Large Capacity Magazine Ban to the Cyber Security Act the Democrats have submitted another piece of gun control literature. On July 30 Senator Frank Lautenberg, who was also a sponsor of the Large Capacity Magazine Ban, and Representative Carolyn McCarthy announced the plans for the 'Stop Online Ammunition Sales Act' at a New York City news conference.

The outline of this new act consists of:

- It requires anyone selling ammunition to be a licensed dealer.
- It requires ammunition buyers who are not licensed dealers to present photo ID at the time of purchase, effectively banning the online or mail order purchase of ammo by regular civilians.
- It requires licensed ammunition dealers to maintain records of the sale of ammunition.
- It requires licensed ammunition dealers to report the sale of more than 1,000 rounds of ammunition to an unlicensed person within any five consecutive business days.

There is some good news out of Colorado this week. The residents of Colorado have reflected on the situation in Aurora and took it upon themselves to stay safe. Gun sales are up 40% in Colorado since the horrific shooting. More and more people are starting to realize that gun control laws will not protect them or keep weapons out of the hands of criminals. Someone will be carrying a gun next time a lunatic goes off the deep end and he will not be sitting in court house like a zombie awaiting charges he will be six feet under thanks to our Second Amendment.

These gun grabbers are taking advantage of a horrible situation to try to get gun control passed. Twelve people are dead and over fifty are injured not because it is legal to buy a gun but because someone went crazy and no one had a gun to take him down. If you were a criminal, would you rather try to take out a classroom where it is known no weapons are allowed? Or would you rather go into a classroom where every student has a .44 mag on their hip? These gun control laws are preventing everyday citizens from protecting themselves. Criminals do not obey laws. Why would they follow gun control laws?

And a last thought. How about Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Eric Holder? Remember – elections have consequences. The next President of the United States will appoint a minimum of two and maybe three justices. In the two most recent Second Amendment rulings by the Supreme Court the votes were 5-4. We were one vote away from the elimination of an individual's right to keep and bear arms. Make your voice heard – VOTE.

Candidates for President (ORSA Board)

Tobias Albrecht: Former Air Force Staff Sergeant and Texas Peace Officer, currently owner of Treys Clays Inc. As an active member of ORSA for 16 years, and a permanent (bond-holding) member for 14 years I have previously held the offices of Skeet and Trap President (4 years), ORSA Vice-President for (3 years), ORSA Roads and Grounds for (2 years), ORSA President for the last 5 ½ years. Additionally, I have also served as interim Membership Secretary in 2007 and again in 2009 and 2010. I have organized and promoted skeet and trap leagues, various work parties, and registered shoots. As your ORSA President I have organized committees to actively support responsible range development and improvement of all our existing shooting facilities at ORSA. I pledge to continue to actively pursue the modernization and incorporation of appropriate new disciplines for the ORSA facility to better accommodate our growing membership, training and youth program needs. I will continue to encourage the responsible growth of the organization through our time tested and proven member referral and sponsorship system. As your ORSA President I will continue to place ORSA, and our entire Association, first and foremost. I further pledge to make it a facility that you will be proud to be affiliated with regardless if you are an old hand or one of our new comers. We will do this together, gradually and in compliance with all city, county and state codes so as not to ever endanger our facilities future or financial well being. If you have attended an orientation in the last five years chances are we have met. I respectfully request your vote for President so that I may continue to serve our wonderful organization.

Joddy Collins: Born in Oak Ridge Hospital January 11, 1955 to parents that supported Oak Ridge from it beginning in WWII. Joddy's mother was a Y-12 calutron girl and his father was an anti-aircraft gunner's mate on the USS New Jersey during WWII. Joddy attended Oak Ridge's Pine Valley Elementary school and graduated from Clinton High School. Then he obtained a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from University of Tennessee, Knoxville. He works as an electronics engineer in telecommunications and instrumentation & controls for several companies including TVA, ORNL, & Y-12 UPF. Joddy's father took him hunting and fishing from 5 years old on, buying him a 22 rifle when he was 2 years old and too small to hold it. Joddy hunted until game got scarce in the 1970s, and then switched to whitewater canoeing and kayaking. He worked tirelessly to build and improve Chota Canoe Club in Knoxville and TVCC in Chattanooga throughout his adult life and has held most club offices. With his leadership, TVCC membership increased from about 100 members to about 350 members during the 1990s. In 2004, he moved back to Oak Ridge when employed by ORNL and joined ORSA.

Joddy has always been an avid shooter, first concentrating on pistols and revolvers, then with rifles and shotguns. In 2005 he joined ORSA just to shoot his pistols at the plinking range after work. Joddy and Ken Palmer installed the indoor range target retrieval system. He met some skeet shooters and they introduced him to skeet shooting. While skeet shooting, a friend invited Joddy to shoot action pistol, & he did compete in the next Saturday's IDPA match. Presently Joddy is a skeet range officer and avid skeet shooter, an indoor range officer, shoots action pistol IDPA, IPSEC, and steel challenge, and practices with his pistols periodically at the indoor, plinking or action pistol range. He also provided management, posters, brochures, registration & scoring for the Wounded Warrior Fundraiser event, and supplies the skeet DVDs in the clubhouse. Joddy attends most ORSA Board meetings to listen and stay updated on ORSA issues, commenting when prudent. He also enjoys being a welcoming host to visitors and new members.

Joddy's vision for ORSA is to keep ORSA operating and healthy by utilizing a pay-as-you-go philosophy, and supporting everything that brings our shooters together uniting ORSA. Joddy would survey the membership to see what the members want such as improvements to existing facilities and/or new facilities, propose new projects that have good support, and keep the ORSA website and newsletter up-to-date, and fresh. ORSA belongs to its members and members should take care of it. Joddy would be one ORSA leader that participates in leagues, matches, and practices weekly.

I would like to see ORSA continue to grow. We need to develop better relations between ourselves, our neighbors and the surrounding community. As the City of Oak Ridge continues to grow around us, we need to be ever vigilant in protecting ourselves from anti gun neighbors, politicians and judges.

I'll work to preserve our club and the 2nd Amendment, not just for ourselves, but for future generations. I'm asking you to please vote for me for Vice President of ORSA.

Chris Melhorn: I am running for the position of Vice President of the Oak Ridge Sportsmen's Association (ORSA). My family and I have been members of ORSA since January 2010. Since joining ORSA, I have become a Range Safety Officer (RSO) for the Indoor Range, where I regularly serve as the RSO during the open times on the weekends. I have sponsored eight new members and I have taken over the responsibility as the Webmaster for the ORSA Web site. As Webmaster, I completely overhauled the old site and gave it a fresh, new look. My family and I participate in the Thursday Night Fun Skeet Shoots. I was a volunteer for the first annual Wounded Warrior Project Fun Shoot, and I often bring potential members to the facility to encourage their membership in ORSA.

While not a native Tennessean, I have lived in Tennessee on three separate occasions. My most recent move to Tennessee was in 1990, when my family and I moved to the Hardin Valley area, where we have lived ever since. My wife and I have three children that visit the club with us regularly. I am employed by the Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI) – a nonprofit organization that conducts research on issues related to the electric power industry. I am active in the Boy Scouts, an Endowment member of the NRA, an NRA instructor for the "Refuse to be Victim" program, and an NRA certified Range Safety Officer. I hold both a Curio & Relics Federal Firearms License and Class 7 Federal Firearms License. I have various interests in firearms and shooting sports, from collecting antique firearms to plinking with my .22s. I currently serve as the Vice President of the Board of Directors for Kingston Place Student Condominiums and as the President of the Board of Directors for the Misty Harbor Homeowners Association.

My vision for ORSA is to keep ORSA operating and healthy by continuing to promote ORSA as a family-friendly shooting facility. My hope is that as a club, ORSA continues to attract new families that have an interest in shooting sports to join ORSA, to participate in ORSA events, and to become active ORSA members. I plan to start an outreach program to introduce young people to the pleasures and responsibilities of shooting sports. It is paramount that our younger generations are introduced to shooting sports to ensure that our country's shooting and hunting values and traditions continue. By providing leadership in the development and promotion of a family-friendly shooting facility, we can ensure that our long standing heritage at ORSA remains intact.
